THE LATEST NEWS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE 46TH CONGRESS.

Resolutions Relating to the Spanish Claims of 1819—The Ute Indians —The Geneva Award Bill.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—On motion of Senator Wallace, a communication from the Secretary of State in response to the Senate resolution calling for information concerning the action under Spanish Claims treaty of 1819, was referred to the committee on Foreign Relations, with instructions to make such recommendation to the Senate as seems proper under the circumstances.

Senators Allison and Teller gave notice of proposed amendments to the bill ratifying the Ute agreement, which were ordered to be printed.

Senator Coke stated that he had intended to ask the consideration of the Ute bill this morning, but as the amendments announced by the Senator from Iowa, (Allison) were very important and should be carefully considered, he would not ask a vote on the bill today, but moved that it be taken up to allow the Senator from Colorado (Teller) to speak upon it.

This motion was opposed by Senator Cockrell, who desired the consideration of the calendar by Sena or Thurman, who did not wish the Geneva Award bill pushed aside, and by Senator McPherson, who moved to take up the joint resolution reported by the committee on Naval Affairs, directing the appointment of a Board of Survey to inquire into the advisability of completing the double turreted iron clads. After the discussion the Senate decided to proceed with the calendar.

HOUSE.

The House Committee on Appropriations to-day discussed at length the Star Route deficiency bill, and instructed Representative Blackburn to report back the House bill with the nonconcurrence in the Senate amendments.

Under a call of the States the following bills, etc., were introduced and referred:

By Mr. Herbert (Ala.), [by request] a bill prescribing and defining the manner of guaranteeing to each State a republican form of government. (It provides that whenever the President shall ascertain that there exists in any State a controversy between two organized bodies, each claiming to be the legislature of such State, and such controversy cannot be determined by the lawfully constituted authorities of such State without resort to military force, he shall communicate the fact of such controversy to the Senate, which shall determine which of either of the two bodies is the legislature of the State.)

By Mr. Scales (N. C.), appropriating $5,000 to aid the centennial celebration of the battle of Guilford Court House, March 15th, 1881, and $10,000 for a monument to Gen. Greene to be erected at Greensboro, N. C.

By Mr. Blount (Ga.), a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to loan to the Governor of Georgia (taking his receipt and guarantee for their return in good order when demanded) 150 light breech loading rifles and accoutrements for the use of the Middle Georgia military and agricultural school at Milledgeville.

By Mr. Robinson (La.), a bill for strengthening the Mississippi levees.

Mr. King (La.), from the Committee on Epidemic Diseases, reported a bill to increase the efficiency of the National Board of Health. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. McGowan (Mich.), from the same committee, reported a bill authorizing the President to call a sanitary conference to meet at Washington, D. C. Placed on the calendar.

The morning hour was dispensed with, and the House went into Committee of the Whole on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill.

ing time 9 per cent. was consumed by

Pending the amendment striking out the clause appropriating $20,000 for charges of D'affairs and the diplomatic officers abroad, it was defeated.

Mr. Blackburn's amendment, proposing to deduct fifty per cent of the salary, if representatives from abroad are absent from duty four months in one year, was defeated.

His amendment to stop pay, if absent more than thirty days, was also defeated.

His amendment to reduce the salary of the Secretary of the Legation to China from $5,000 to $2500, was also defeated.

Mr Blackburn then offered an amendment, providing that no diplomatic office, if not amended in this bill, shall be entitled to any salary or compensation of any kind whatever, and repealing the laws authorizing the payment of any salary or compensation to such officers.

In the course of a short debate, Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina, created a good deal of amusement by stating that he had made a calculation and had discovered that twenty-eight members consumed seventy one per cent. of all the time of the House; of the remainSouthern men; ten per cent. by one man from Michigan (alluding to Conger,) and the balance by Northern democrats.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Cox, of New York, replying to the speech of Mr. Blounts on Saturday, defined his position on the Consular question. He would strike down the salaries of the men whose only business seemed to be to dine at cafes, listen to the gossip of the men who were not in sympathy with Republican institutions, and to return home at pleasure when not gallivanting through Europe.

Several tilts took place between Messrs. Singleton and Blackburn, in which Mr. Blackburn asserted that Mr. Singleton did not understand his own bill, and Mr. Singleton retorted by pointing out two blunders which Mr. Blackburn had made in his Saturday's speech, within the space of a line and a half.

Adjourned.

IMPORTANT CASE.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 29.—The second case of the United States vs. the County Judges for violation of the Constitution, came up to-day, being that of Judge Griffin, of Roanoke. After a powerful argument for the defence the case was given to the jury who, failing to agree, were discharged. The jury stood 11 to 1 for acquittal.

FROM ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 29.—In response to a request to contribute towards the candidature of Herbert Gladstone (son of the ex-Premier) for Parliament, from Middlesex, the Baroness, Burdett Coutts, writes as follows: "I do not feel disposed to join at this moment, because it seems to me that, under the present circumstances of the world, the country needs above all things a strong government, and since the dissolution of Parliament in 1874, by Mr. Gladstone, the Liberals have been too disorganized to offer such a government to the country."

A dispatch from Calcutta to the Times says that notwithstanding the execution of the Chief of the Rumpa rebellion, the rebels are still under arms, and under the command of a Lieutenant.

The villages appear to afford shelter and supplies to the rebels.

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED WRITER.

A cabinet dispatch states that the British commissioner at an interview with the Chief Sirdous said, there would be no permanent annexation and no restoration of the ex-Ameer of Afghanistan, would be separated into its old constituent provinces and government would be guided solely by wishes of the people regarding the ruler.

VESSEL ASHORE.

RIOT AND BLOOD SHED.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A special from London says the Pall Mall Gazette in commenting on the appointment of Commissioners in the Chinese treaty says that this is a matter of which no complication in Europe should keep England from closely watching. The Americans threaten to become England's most formidable competitors in the far east. The Gazette observes the growing inclination in Asiatic countries to use America which they do not fear as a foil against Europe which they fear exceedingly. A very slight gain in the shape of the reciprocity treaty would give American trade a decided advantage in Chinese ports.

The cause of the riot yesterday was as follows:

Chevalier O'Cleary, member for the county of Wexford, in the late parliament seeks re election as Home Ruler, while Parnell has nominated two other candidates as obstructionists, one of whom are very unpopular. Chevalier O'Cleary's party who are some 10,000 strong took possession of the platform when Parnell arrrived accompanied by members of the Emiscarthy club. He attempted to get on the platform and was received with shouts of "No dictation."

His friends were attacked, beaten, and thrown down, several with bleeding heads. A body of armed police was drawn up near the platform and had the Parnell party been numerous the list of casualties would have been very large.

PREPARATION FOR A NEW LINE.

NEW YORK, March 28.—A Herald special from London says that a Russian commissioner named Klavasky, who left Odessa on March 9th, will soon arrive at San Francisco on the cruiser Moscow. The ostensible object of the journey is to arrange for a line of steamers from California to the mouth of the Amoar river. It is said that Russia and America are negotiating concerning the matter.

THE SCHOOL BILL.

Mr Reynolds, for the joint committee to investigate the causes of the failure to sign the school bill, submitted the following report:

The special joint committee appointed under Senate resolution to investigate the cause or causes of the failure of ratification of the school bill, would respectfully report that they have considered the same and submit the following report: That they are unable to place the blame upon any particular person or persons, and are of the opinion that no officer of this General Assembly or of this State is implicated in the cause of said failure, and are also of the opinion that the Speakers and enrolling clerks performed their duties in a creditable manner upon the last day of the session, upon which day and the only day the school bill could be signed. We attribute the failure of the ratification of the school bill to the confusion and haste of the legislation on the last day of the session. G. B. Everett, chairman; J. T. Reynolds, N. C. English, J. A. McLean and S. B. Alexander, committee.

The report was unanimously adopted and ordered to be spread upon the journal.

Mr. Vaughan introduced a resolution to adjourn at 1 p. m, which was adopted.

Mr. Ellison offered a resolution of inquiry in regard to a convict said to have been whipped to death on the University Railroad

Mr. Jones said the coroner should make an investigation. There was a responsibility resting on all officers up to the Governor of the State, but the laws of the State now covered the case fully. He therefore saw no necessity for the resolution. He had no doubt of the fact that the outrage had been committed, for it had been stated so positively.

Mr. Ellison said he had introduced the resolution as a measure of protection to the convicts. He said they had no more right to whip convicts on the roads than they had to whip them in other places. The constitution of the State expressly forbids such punishment, and the fact that it was allowed was shameful.

Mr. Norment favored the resolution in strong terms.

Mr. Vaughan said that the resolution would be an arraignment of the judicial powers of the State, and he opposed it.

Mr. Clarke introduced a resolution of thanks to Speaker Moring. He made some remarks in support of his resolution, in which he expressed the thanks of his side of the House to the Speaker and the clerks.

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

The House having finished the serious business before it, indulged in a small racket, wherein Mr. Dunsdale, of Polk, took a prominent part. Speeches were made by that gentleman, and by Messrs. Carter, of Buncombe, Cobb and others Mr. Carter spoke of the good feeling in the body and the absence of political discussion.

A message was received from the Senate, announcing the readiness of that body to adjourn.

Mr. Moring then, in a few remarks, declared the House adjourned sine die

No Sectionalism.

Washington Post, Dem.

In the opinion of the Post, Palmer or Morrison, of Illinois; Thurman, Jewett or Payne, of Ohio; Hendricks of Indiana; or Field, of California—all from Western States—might be elected this fall. But Seymour, of New York—an Eastern State—we know could be elected. A certainty is better than a probability. The fact that the one emanates from the East and the other from the West does not invalidate this logic. It may be that the democratic presidential candidate this fall will be a Western man. Quite possibly so. But he may also be an Eastern man. As Horatio Seymour is an Eastern man he will be the latter. The Democratic party, however, must no more know an East or a West than a North or a South. It cannot afford to. We have all the United States to pick our candidate from, and from that whole section he must come.

"Facts are stubborn things," and so are coughs and colds, but the latter will invariably yield to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which costs but 25 cents.

One Way to Economize.

Many a poor man, if required to account for the manner in which he has expended his income, would find bills of his family physician for "medical services" among the leading items. In seven cases out of ten, acute diseases are the result of some neglected chronic disease. Thus, fevers invariably result from diseased conditions of the blood and liver, and a timely use of alterative, or blood-purifying, and cathartic remedies would have averted the prostrating illness, that often leaves the system irreparably injured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic medicines yet compounded. Full directions are given for administering them, together with an accurate description of the symptoms demanding their use. They will not cure all human ills (as some medicines are advertised to do), but they will cure the diseases for which they are compounded and recommended.

SPEECH OF M. E. CARTER.

AN UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT FOR THE SALE OF THE W. N. C. R. R.

The Proposition to Purchase is Fair—Purchasing Parties are Honest—Guarantees Ample and Should be Accepted.

The bill to provide for the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad being up for discussion upon its merits, Mr. Carter, of Buncombe, took the floor and said, in substance, that he was surprised at the remarks of his colleague in opposition to this great measure. He was sure that gentleman did not reflect the sentiments of his people. If he was not greatly mistaken, they earnestly desired the passage of this bill. They were satisfied that the parties proposing to purchase the road were men of high character for honesty, and they did not doubt that they could command means enough to do whatever they might undertake. His people believed also that the bill contained sufficient guarantees for the completion of the road to both its terminal points at Paint Rock and Ducktown. If the State were the only contracting party, the guarantees might be made a little stronger. As it was, the very best had been done that could be done under the circumstances. The high character of the two distinguished gentlemen who had drawn the bill, made it certain that all had been done for the State that could be These gentlemen had procured important concessions, and the Joint Select Committee had also obtained one or two concessions of some value, after great effort and long delay. But all had been obtained in the way of concessions that could be; no more would be made. Gentlemen might rely on it, a single amendment would kill the bill. He wanted this to be distinctly understood, so that it might be known for what purpose amendments were offered. He did not want this called dictation; it was simply business. Mr. Best had made a proposition; he had submitted his ultimatum. The General Assembly could accept or reject it, as in its wisdom, it might think proper, and that would be the end of it. In this view and for this reason, gentlemen would see that every amendment proposed was a direct blow at the bill. Speaking for himself, he should fight off these blows as he would so many daggers thrust at the most vital interests of his people. He appealed to the friends of his section, to stand firm in this hour of danger.

He would not undertake to discuss this bill at length upon its merits. Enough discussion had been heard. The time for action had come. But it was proper that a few of the objections urged against the bill should be pointed out and answered. The main objection that had been suggested, was that the proposed purchasers had not offered enough for the road It had been said the road would be worth three millions of dollars when complete to Paint Rock. That is not the question. What is the road worth, stopping seven miles this side of Asheville, as it does? It was encumbered with a mortgage debt of eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars, yielding an annual interest of fifty nine thousand and five hundred dollars. The earnings of the road are about twenty-two thousand dollars a year. This would not keep the road in repair. Besides, the iron and rolling stock on the road were wearing out, and the President of the road had reported, that it would require two hundred and twenty-one thousand dollars to put the road in good order. To complete the road to Asheville, from its present terminus, would require an expenditure of more than one hundred thousand dollars. To put the mountain section from Henry's station to the western portal of the great tunnel in proper repair, would also require considerable outlay. It was safe to say, it would cost, to get the road to Asheville, in proper condition, about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars cash. Where was the money to come from? It was not in the State treasury, for that was exhausted; it could only be raised by taxation, and that would cause the people to murmur. Would the road, stopping at Asheville, pay the interest on the present mortgage debt and the three hundred and fifty thousand dollars additional that would have to be expended, pay the interest on the money in it? He doubted it very much. Private energy would no doubt make it pay, but under State management, it would not pay. Then why could gentlemen say, the price offered was not enough? But it had been said, the road had great prospective value. Complete it to Paint Rock and it would be a bonanza. Admitted; but how could it be completed to that point without money? Who would furnish the cash? Suppose the State furnished it, what margin would the State have in the property? He asked gentlemen to look at the figures. The mortgage debt was $850,000. The interest on it for two years would be $180,000. The State's lien for convict labor, &c., was $550,000. To put the road in respair and complete it to Asheville would require at least three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and to build it from Asheville to Paint Rock would require six hundred and fifty thousand dollars more. Here was a grand total of twenty-seven hundred thousand dollars that the State would have in the road on its completion to Paint Rock, and this did not include any interest on any part of this large sum but the present mortgage debt. A precise calculation would place the cost at about three millions of dollars Now, conceding all that had been claimed as to the value of the Paint Rock line, what would the State's interest in the road be worth? Not one dollar! But it had been said, the road would be valuable in the hands of the State, as a part of the "North Carolina system." The suggestion could only provoke a smile That "system" was only a thing of the past. The main link, the North Carolina Railroad, had passed out of the control of the State, long ago. The other end of the system, the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, was virtually under the Sheriff's hammer, and it was foolish to cling to this phantom any longer. Far better would it be for the State to wake up to the fact, that the laws of trade would control the railroads of the country, and that artificial restraints and contrivances could but bring trouble. At the same time, he had great respect for those who founded or projected this so-called system. He believed their leading thought was to connect the mountains and the seashore by rail, and he submitted, that their object would be attained when there should be a continuous line from Beaufort to Ducktown, whether that line belonged to the State or not. He believed further, that so far as the interests of the people were concerned, they would be as well served by the Railroads, in the hands of private corporations, as they would be, if the roads belonged to the State. The State, in fact, did not understand the Railroad business; all the roads in her hands had languished and died, and her investments had brought her nothing but discredit and trouble. If capitalists would take her roads generally, put them in good condition, and run them in the interests of commerce, upon true business principles, he did not doubt that it would result in vast good to the whole State. But returning to the Paint Rock line, he asked, if it be admitted that the State's interest or equity of redemption in that line, after its completion, should be worth something, even a few hundred thousand dollars, what was to become of the Ducktown line? It would not be seriously contended, that the State's interest in the Paint Rock line, would constitute any basis of credit with which to prosecute the work on the Ducktown line. Were members prepared to turn their backs on that line, to sacrifice the gallant people on that line? For his part, he would prefer to see the road stop where it is. Those people had claims that could not be ignored. The State was bound to them by every obligation of honor and public policy. How to discharge that obligation was a question of great and transcendant importance. The Paint Rock line could not build the other, the people would not submit to taxation for the purpose of building it, and how was it to be built? In his judgment there was but one way—sell or give the Paint Rock line to somebody who would build the other. No other feasible plan had been suggested —no other could be suggested. The question, then, was, would the State make good her pledges to the Ducktown people? Would she have some one to build that line by selling the other?

There was a general expression in favor of a sale. But a great deal had been said about guarantees. Members would vote for a sale if they could only get guarantees. What did gentlemen wish, what would they have? It had been suggested that Mr. Best ought to be required to make a deposit of a million or so as a guarantee of good faith. That was not reasonable, and would never be submitted to by Mr. Best. The State had not only refused to warrant the title to the property, but had so tied it up, that it would not be a basis of credit in the hands of the purchasers, until both terminal points of the road had been reached. It was certain that the purchasers must draw the money out of their own pockets to complete the work. To require them, in addition to this, to make a deposit, would be impolitic, unwise, and unjust. But they had deposited thirty thousand dollars, and they had agreed to advance thirty thousand more in cash to pay the floating debt of the company. They were also bound to pay the interest on the present mortgage debt, or about five thousand dollars per month, counting from the ratification of the act. To put the road from Salisbury to Asheville in repair, complete the Paint Rock line, and finish the other to Pigeon River, would require a total outlay of fourteen hundred thousand dollars, or an average expenditure of one hundred thousand dollars month from now until July 1st 1881, when the work was to be done. And yet, it was said there were no guarantees. Who said so? Why, in most instances, the very men who had always opposed this great work. Did it not strike gentlemen as rather strange, that those who do not want the road built, should clamor for guarantees for its completion? There were, of course, notable and noble exceptions; but it could not be denied that the principal opposition to the sale, came from those who had always opposed appropriations. There was a "nigger in the wood pile." But, a word more as to guarantees. The title to the property could not rest until the road should be completed. This was clearly provided in section two of the bill. And section 16 provided, that in case the grantees or their assigns shall fail to carry out and perform their contract, all the grants to them shall become and be null and void, and upon notification of such failure, the Trust Company shall surrender to the Governor of the State, the deed conveying them the property. Who had been given the extraordinary power to say that the grantees had failed to carry out their contract? Section 14 had committed that power to Thomas J. Jarvis, Zebulon B. Vance and John M. Worth. Sections 15 and 16 made these gentlemen arbitrators, and as such, clothed them with power to put an end to all interest of the grantees in the property in case of their bad faith! These Commissioners—for such they were named in the bill—were all North Carolinians in whom the people confided. Mr. Best had not asked for any commissioner outside the State. He had cheerfully entrusted all that he had or ever expected to have, to our own people! Could there be a better exhibition of an honest purpose in this whole matter? Who could, without blushing, ask for a better guarantee? "But," say the champions of the opposition, "all that is true; the grantees can not own the property unless they build it. The point we make however, is, the bill directs the formation of a new company and authorizes it to issue mortgage bonds, with power of sale. These bonds will go into the hands of innocent purchasers. The grantees will throw up their contract, and the work will stop short of completion. The innocent bondholders will come forward and claim, that under this bill, both the State and the grantees are bound to complete the road, and as both parties have failed to complete it, they are entitled to have an immediate foreclosure and sale of the entire property. The provision in the mortgage deeds and in the bonds, that there can be no foreclosure until both lines are completed, can not avail the State, for the latter is as much a party to the contract to finish the road, and is as much bound to finish it as the grantees." This was a fair statement of the argument of the opposition. It assumed that there could be innocent purchasers of the bonds. He could not see how one could be an innocent purchaser of a bond that is to carry upon its face, notice to all the world. The man who should attempt to enforce payment of one of these bonds before the completion of the road who have no equity on the ground that he was an innocent purchaser. Whether he would have any equity at all, would depend on whether the State undertakes in this bill, to guarantee the completion of the work in case of a failure on the part of the grantees,—whether the State contracts with the bondholders to do a particular thing, in a definite way, and in a certain time. What does the State undertake to do in this bill? The only provision on the subject, is in section 17 and that is to the effect, that should the grantees fail to complete the work, "the State shall at once enter into possession, control, and management of the road, and shall conduct, prosecute and complete the said work as by law may be directed." Now, conceding for the sake of the argument, that this section binds the State to complete the work in case of the failure of the grantees, when and how is the State to do it? "As by law may be directed." By what "law," directed? This bill repeals all existing law providing for the completion of the road, so that existing law cannot be referred to, and the provision is prospective. If that be correct, who is to dictate to the Legislature in the matter? Can the courts control the Legislative department of the government? In his humble judgment, the Legislature making power may in its own way and at its own good pleasure, provide for the completion of the road, and of this, the bondholder will have notice in the act itself. They could have no equity to compel the State to do more than she undertakes in this bill to do.

An objection has been urged against the word "only" in section 3 of the bill. It is said to be pregnant with danger to the State. He was both surprised and amused at the weighty arguments that had been made upon this little word. A distinguished gentleman had thought the use of the word in the section mentioned, might stir up the construction boudholders and precipitate them with terrible vengeance upon the road. The gentleman referred to, was afraid these bondholders might come forward, claim that the State was trying to destroy or make way with her stock in the road, and have the property placed in the hands of a receiver. He had great respect for the opinion of the gentleman, so much indeed, that he is quite willing to leave the whole question to his unbiased judgment. That gentleman had expressly stated in his speech in this hall, that he was not certain, that these bondholders had any lien upon the State's stock in this road and he had refused to bring a suit for them. This seemed to be an opinion from that gentleman, that there was no thing in the claim of the construction bondholders, and if not, he submitted, that the word "only" was as harmless as any other word in section 3. He would not notice further objections that had been made to the bill. He was satisfied the good sense of this House would assert itself, and that this great measure of relief for his people would not fail because people were able to raise a few small objections to it. He thought the passage of this bill would meet the approbation of the people of the whole State. They would see in it, rest from taxation, as well as the opportunity of building up other sections and other interests, that would redound to the good of the State.

"THE AMERICAN SABBATH."

Secretary of the Navy Thompson Advocates the Maintenance of the Seventh Day as a Day of Rest.

The New York Sabbath Committee, which is an unsectarian organization, composed of several well-known gentlemen of different denominations, held a meeting at Association Hall recently attracting an audience that completely filled the large room. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Norman White, presided, and interesting speeches were made by Richard W. Thompson, Secretary of the Navy: Rev. Roswell Hitchcock, Mr. George H. Andrews, Mr. W. W. Atterbury, the secretary of the committee, and Mr. White. Secretary Thompson was received with applause. He said that in listening to the eloquent tribute of the preceding speaker to the greatness of our country he could not help asking himself the question, How did it become so? We have seen the other nations of the earth struggling for centuries through difficulties and embarrassments, and yet they have not reached that point in grandeur which we in one century have so gloriously gained. How did all this come about? The answer is plain. Our fathers brought with them across the briny deep the Holy Word of God. (Applause.) Herein is the mystery, if there be any mystery, about our grandeur and greatness. It is the Bible that has made us great. We are a Christian people, entertaining diverse views, practicing different forms of worship, but tracing all our faith to that great fundamental law given to us amid the thunder and lightning of Sinai—that God made the Sabbath day for man, not for himself. He needs no rest; He is a spiritual being—a pure essence. But when he created us of material substances—of bones, muscle, nerves and fibre—He taught us that we do not possess the power of incessant labor.

A FIRMLY FIXED PRINCIPLE.

I take it there is no principle better fixed in the American mind than the determination to insist upon the conformity by foreigners to our Sunday legislation. We are a Sabbath keeping people (Applause.) Men say that we have no power to interfere with the natural right of individuals—that a man may spend Sunday as he pleases. But society has a right to make laws for its own protection. They are not religious laws. The men engaged in this grand work of securing the enforcement of the Sabbath laws do not want to force you into any church, for these gentlemen represent all denominations. They want to make you observe the Sabbath day as a day of rest merely—peaceably if they can, forcibly if they must, only so far as it is necessary to protect society. Destroy the Sabbath, and you go out of light into darkness. A government without the Sabbath as a civil institution could not stand long enough to fall. [Applause]. Why are we so especially interested in Sabbath laws? Because there is no other government that depends so much on the morality of its citizens as ours. Here, where we have a Republic with its existence depending upon the mass of the people, it is necessary to have a general observance of the Sabbath. [Applause.] Our national life may depend upon it. We may quarrel to any reasonable extent on anything else—about banks and the tariff—perhaps we could do without both; but the American people will never give up its Sabbath. Mr. Thompson concluded with an eloquent picture of the beneficent effects to the workingman of the Sabbath at home with his wife and family, and closed with a stirring appeal to the assemblage to do everything to preserve what has come to be known in Europe as "the American Sabbath." He had come to New York, not to make a speech, but because he has been interested in this cause and has been a worker for it for thirty years, and he earnestly added that he intended to work for it for thirty years to come.

DAILY NEWS

TUESDAY, MARCH 30, 1880.

GEO. C JORDAN, Editor and Propr

THE rush of immigration at New York is somewhat remarkable. The seven ocean steamers which arrived there Sunday and Monday landed 2,911 immigrants, making the total for the month up to date 12,720, against 6,051 for the entire month of March of last year, and as the season advances the numbers are expected to increase.

KING ALPHONSO has sent a photograph of himself, beautifully framed, in Spanish enamel of gold and silver on steel, to the Historical Society of Missouri. The picture bears the King's autograph, and is a token of approval of the society's intended celebration of the anniversary of the first Mississippi exploration.

A WASHINGTON gntleman who is a shrewd observer of political events writes the Boston Post a prediction that neither of the Republicans now prominently mentioned for the Presidential nomination will fall to some man little if any talked of at the present time. He predicts that Blaine will not come as near a nomination as he did four years ago, and, though a friend of Mr. Tilden, says his nomination by the Democrats would be inviting defeat.

THE GOVERNMENT'S NEW "DISTINCTIVE" PAPER.

United States notes on the new "distinctive" paper have been printed and are now being issued by the Treasury Department. The notes on the new paper have a different appearance from the old notes. The paper is darker and gives the note a decidedly different look. The fibre in the new paper is silk and of various colors. The first paper on which the notes now issued are printed has not fibre enough. On the face of the new notes "series of 1880," the seal to the left of the picture in the centre has disappeared. The words "one dollar," the one word printed through the other, have a large seal printed over and surrounding them. The red ellipse that surrounded these two words in the old note has disappeared.

THE OBSERVER AND ITS CRITICISM.

Our neighbor, the Observer, republishes a severe criticism upon Judge Merrimon taken from the North Carolina Citizen, and proceeds to berate the editor of the Citizen Mr. Furman, most soundly, and quarrels with Senator Ransom because (as the Observer thinks Mr. F. is the clerk of the committee of which the Senator is chairman. How the fact is we have not enquired. Permit us to suggest to the Observer, in its own choice phraseology, that the article seems to us to be one of the "customary ruse" of the Observer to "lug in the name of" Senator Ransom, where only its friend Judge Merrimon is concerned.

The NEWS does not care to publish articles reflecting upon Judge Merrimon, but we will call our neighbor's attention to an article in the Hickory Press of the same general import and ask if any connection has been suggested between Mr. Tomlinson and Senator Ransom.

The editor of the Observer knew that Mr. Furman had not been Senator Ransom since the speeches of Judge M. on the railroad bill, and its effort to make Senator R. a party to a controversy between Mr. Furman and Mr. Merrimon will be unavailing.

GOVERNOR JARVIS.

Less than three months ago a rumor was heard for the first time that certain individuals proposed to purchase the Western North Carolina Railroad, and to complete it an early period without further expense to the State. To-day the sale is practically an accomplished fact. It seems scarcely credible that so great a thing should have been accomplished in so short a time; for it is a great thing by one act to relieve the people of an onerous burden of taxation and to secure a speedy connection of our North Carolina railways with those of the West and Northwest, stretching even to the Pacific ocean.

As everybody knows there has been for sometime a growing restlessness in the State in regard to taxation for the completion of the Western North Carolina Road; when, therefore, a proposition was made by responsible parties to complete the road without further expense to the State, it was at once apparent to a thinking man that a serious crisis had arrived in the affairs, both of the State and of the Democratic party. The good of the State demanded the speedy completion of the road, and the good of the party required the speedy reduction of taxation. The transfer of the road, however, to the parties proposing to complete it could not be accomplished without an extra session of the Legislature, involving, of course, a very serious expenditure, to say nothing of a considerable period of high political excitement, and in this there was danger. But on the other hand again, if the Legislature was not called together the Democratic party would be held responsible for the rejection of the proposition, and the Radical press and Radical orators would be everywhere showing to the people, by facts and figures, how the Democratic party had failed either to build the road or to lighten taxation, when both might as easily have been done. The situation was indeed a grave one, but fortunately, the control of it was in the hands of a man, cool, deliberate, and of strong will. Looking back, as we may now do, upon the progress of events, we cannot but be struck with the prudence, the deliberation and the wisdom of Governor Jarvis' whole course from beginning to end. Not a single step was taken hastily or unadvisedly, nor was a single precaution neglected, and all was done in the broad light of day.

The substantial points of the proposition of Mr. Best and his associates were first ascertained to be worthy of consideration, then the names of Mr. Best's associates were demanded and received. The financial standing and personal character of the parties were next fully investigated by the chief financial officer of the State, in person, in the city of New York; other investigations to the same end were also made. Satisfied on this point, proof of the connection between Mr. Best and his associates was asked and received and still Gov. Jarvis was not satisfied. He then required Mr. Best to deposit thirty thousand dollars in the hands of the State Treasurer as a further guarantee of his sincerity and as a perpetual security for the payment of the interest on the $850,000 of mortgage bonds for which the State is liable.

Nor while thus investigating and perfecting the proposition of Mr. Best was Governor Jarvis unmindful of the fact that there might be other propositions. Indeed, as far back as the 3rd of February, in reply to a communication that day received from prominent citizens of Wilmington, he wrote giving all the information he had in the premises and expressing the hope that citizens of Wilmington would be able to make a proposition for the purchase and completion of the road together with the emphatic declaration that all his sympathies were with our own people against all other people in the world.

On the 21st of February came the call of the Legislature, followed by an address to the people of North Carolina, setting forth in a plain straightforward way, the reasons for that call. The proposition also was published in every possible way throughout the State, that the people might everywhere make up their minds upon its merits. In addition to this, Major Wilson, the President of the Company, was called upon for a special report, setting forth in minute detail and in reply to specific interrogatories, the condition of the road and its prospects for completion under existing legislation. The State Treasurer was also called upon for a special report setting forth the financial condition of the State. Matters of substance having been thus satisfactorily disposed of, the services of two of the most eminent lawyers in North Carolina, one of them being the leading citizen in the section of the State most pronounced in its hostility to the sale, were called into requisition to put the proposition of Mr. Best in precise, accurate and unmistakable legal language. The Legislature met and the proposition of Mr. Best was submitted, accompanied by a strong message in its favor, together with the special reports of President Wilson and Treasurer Worth——in a word the light was turned on in full blaze.

The legislature has adjourned and the bill for the sale of the road has become a law. In the Senate forty votes were cast for the sale, and only six votes against it, nearly seven to one. Not a single Democrat in the Senate was recorded against it on the final reading, Mr. Dortch even, being unwilling to push an unavailing opposition that far. In the House ninety-one votes were cast for the sale and twenty-one against it, of whom only five were Democrats, more than four to one.

There was pronounced opposition to the sale on the part of a few of the members and of the citizens, but these differences are now settled and all are united in a common desire to lend to Mr. Best and his new enterprise their most hearty co-operation in his efforts to rapidly project the road.

The NEWS tenders Governor Jarvis congratulations at the result he has been instrumental in bringing about. His course since the pendency of the proposition has been marked for its prudence and wisdom. He has achieved a success of which any man might be proud.

Give Him a Fair Chance.

Charlotte Observer,

Now that Mr. Best is to get the Western North Carolina Railroad, let's give him a fair chance, not forgetting that by the little transaction the State is relieved of a heavy burden of taxation. He has an up-hill business before him, and that everybody who knows anything of the topography of the country and the condition of the road already in operation, must confess.

Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. SIDEWALK NOTES.

—Daniel in the Lion's Den.

—Revenue receipts yesterday were $1,678.70.

—Mr. Best will be absent from the city until Friday.

—Mr. E. J. Hardin advertises late arrivals of a full line of family groceries.

—An interesting revival is now going on at Swain Street Baptist Church.

—The conclusion of Lent on yesterday will usher in a season of gayety among the fashionable of the city.

—Edenton and Person street Methodist new Chapel is to have handsome stained glass windows, so we hear.

—Mr. A. B. Vincent, of Wilson's Mills, met with the misfortune of losing his residence by fire yesterday.

—Judge Tourgee's book, "A Fool's Errand," is commanding an unprecedented sale, and it is stated it will be published as a Republican campaign document.

—Mr. Nat. Atkinson desires to state to his constituents that he did not oppose the sale of the W. N. C. R. R., but contended strongly for additional guarantees.

—Mr. D. B. Avera and James Upchurch have returned from a delightful trip to Florida. They both talk well and relate most interesting accounts of their observations and experience in the land of flowers and Orange groves.

—Both the Eastern and Western bound trains were laden with homeward bound members, not one of which expressed dissatisfaction at the result of the extra session. Mr. Best and his railroad was the general theme of conversation all of which was favorable to him.

—It has been definitely decided by the Salisbury Street Baptist Choir to repeat the Oratorio of Daniel to-morrow night at the church. The music is unusually fine, and will be rendered in an unexceptional manner by this well trained choir. A large and refined audience may be expected, and an occasion of rare enjoyment will be provided.

—The Easter picnics were numerous yesterday, ranging from an omnibus full, drawn by six spanking steeds down to the small boy on foot tolled on with a long reed on his tender shoulder and bright anticipations of an immense catch at the neighboring ponds. The weather was too cold for much pleasure save the spirits were enlivened by artificial means and but few matches were made at the initiation of the season.

Died.

In this city, on Monday night, March 29th, Mrs. Adelia Scales, of Ireland, in the 71st year of her age. The funeral will take place Wednesday evening at 3 o'clock, at Christ Church.

Counterfeits.

Dye's Government Detective for March gives minute descriptions of two new and dangerous counterfeits, one a hundred dollar bill on the National Exchange Bank, of Pittsburg, letter A, and one a ten of the new Treasury issue, series of 1875 (Wenster head), letter C. There has also recently appeared a five dollar counterfeit of the same issue (Jackson head), letter C. Against all these business men should be on their guard. Dye's method of detecting counterfeits is a novel one. All genuine bills are printed, four bills at a time, attached together in a sheet, each bill containing one of the four letters, A. B. C D. The counterfeiter prints but one; makes but a single plate; thus counterfeiting but one of the four letters. Then the redemption agency retires the genuine bills of the letter counterfeited on any bank. He then refuses all bills having on them that letter, and takes with impunity all bills having on them any of the other three letters.

Oxford & Henderson Railroad.

Oxford Free Lance.

It is generally understood that there is at present some misunderstanding between the Board of Directors of this road and the contractor, Col. Wm. F. Beasley.

It is not our purpose at this time to go into any details in regard to this disagreement, but simply to publish the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Board on Monday last:

"Resolved, That notwithstanding some present differences now existing between the Board of Directors and the Contractor regarding the manner in which the contract is to be carried out, yet, the Board of Directors have determined that the work shall be prosecuted with all possible dispatch, and they assure the stockholders and the people interested that no unavoidable delay on their part shall be experienced in the final construction of the O. & H. Railroad."

We will simply say that we believe the Board to be fully determined on their part and will do everything in their power to prevent any delay.

The Cast of a Great Moral Drama.

Harrisburg Patriot.

In the great moral drama to be enacted by the Republican party in Chicago next June the dramatis personæ will be represented as follows:

Father	Mr. J. D. Cameron
Prodigal Son	Mr. U. S. Grant
The Household
Delegates to the Convention
Fatted Calf	Mr. James G. Blaine

The grand climax in this unusually fine programme will be the killing of the fatted calf.

Charles S. Prentice, of Toledo, O., went to Paris and thence to England to be treated for Bright's disease, and after the best physicians of both countries had done what they could for him, gave up in despair and returned to America to die. Here he received further treatment from other skillful physicians without benefit, and while "listlessly lingering in pain and anguish," he says, heard of the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, took it, and was completely cured in a few weeks. He gives circumstantial details of his painful experience.

UNION VETERAN'S UNION.

THE GRAND ARMY AND THE THIRD TERM.

How it is Being Organized Throughout the Country--Infantry Battalion--No Political Club.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, one of the most outspoken newspaper organs of the third term plan, has been more explicit on this point than its fellows. A few days ago it informed its readers that in case General Grant should be elected and not seated, he would find himself at the head of an army of 500,000 men.

We have before us, says the New York Sun, a set of private circulars issued from a place in this city styled "The Headquarters of the Union Veterans' Union." This association appears to be a revival of the organization of old soldiers formerly known as the Boys in Blue. The circulars suggest the formation, in all parts of the North, of local organizations dependent upon the headquarters in New York; they call upon all veterans of the Union army and navy "to unite in 1880 for the preservation of what was gained for humanity by their sacrifices in 1861-65;" and they furnish by-laws for the local clubs, forms of rolls for the enlistment of members, and so forth. These circulars are signed by one Drake De Kay, who calls himself "Secretary of the Union Veterans' National Committee." Under other circumstances this name at the foot of such documents would excite no attention, except what might be attracted by the accompanying appeal to members of the Union to buy badges and medals of a certain firm at one dollar a badge. But the following note, conspicuously printed in the circulars, shows that the organization is something more than the enterprise of a die-sinker:

"Colonel Drake De Kay, Secretary Nat'onal Veterans Committee:

DEAR SIR—I accept with great pleasure the position of Chairman of the Union Veterans' National Committee, and express the hope that in my absence from the country the association may complete its organization.

"On my return from abroad it will afford me great pleasure to meet the Veterans and to express to them in person my thanks for this mark of esteem.

"With great respect, your obedient servant,

"U. S. GRANT,

"Philadelphia, May 16, 1877.

The scheme of by-laws furnished from "headquarters" for the guidance of "Comrades" who desire to complete their local organizations for the purpose of battling "the unrepentant, unenlightened and persistent Rebel Democracy," states as follows the objects of the association:

"1. To perpetuate the principles for which its members contended while serving in the Union army and navy, and to that end to do all in its power to keep in ascendency in the country the party which sustained the Union when imperilled, and which now maintains that there is still a distinction between those who fought to destroy it, and those who are now seeking to gain by the ballot the ends which they failed to attain by arms.

"2. To cultivate, promote and strengthen those soldierly and brotherly feelings which bound together the comrades of the army and navy, who united to support the National Government in its contest with treason, and the suppression of the rebellion in the Southern States."

It proposes to accomplish these objects by organizing in every town and village of the North clubs with the following officers:

"A President with the brevet rank of Colonel.

"Two Vice-Presidents with the brevet rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

"A Secretary with the brevet rank of Major.

"A Treasurer with the brevet rank of Major.

"A Recording Secretary with the brevet rank of Captain.

"A Quartermaster with the brevet rank of Captain.

"A Marshal with the title of Marshal."

The by-laws provide that the officers of the association shall be addressed by their military titles. If they held rank in the army higher than their brevet rank in the organization, the old army title must be added in brackets in officially addressing them. The by-laws further provide that the "command shall make use of the tactics for the time being in use in the U. S. Army." Each club shall organize as a battalion of infantry, the officers of the club holding the respective ranks allotted to them in the above schedule. The President or Colonel, as the commanding officer of the battalion, "shall organize as many companies as he deems expedient, and each company shall elect a Captain and two Lieutenants. Company commanders will complete the organization by appointing their non-commissioned officers." This sudden metamorphosis of a political club into a battalion of infantry shall take place "on occasions of parade, or when called out to aid in the suppression of disorder."

Digest Supreme Court Opinions.

Reported by Walter M. Busbee, Attorney at Law.

BY DILLARD, J:

J. A. McElwee } Catawba,
vs. }
W. T. Blackwell } Affirmed.

This was an appeal from the refusal of the court below to submit a particular issue tendered by plaintiff. The only issue joined was as to the sale or exclusive ownership of the trademark; no amendment being moved for. It was not error to refuse an issue as to ownership other than as alleged.

State } Robeson.
vs. }
Peter Leitch } Affirmed.
Indictment for murder.

When there is no statement of the case by the presiding Judge, the record must be examined to see if there be any error therein.

There is no error. This will be certified, that the sentence of the law may be pronounced and executed.

State }
vs. } Henderson.
John Keeter and Nancy Corn }

Affirmed.

Defendants were convicted of Forcery at Fall Term, 1878, Henderson Superior Court. On Solicitor's appeal for the State the record showed the verdict of the jury to set aside and a new trial granted, while the statement made out by the Judge showed verdict of guilty and arrest of judgment.

When there is repugnancy between the record and the Judge's case, the record must control. When all the requisites of a judgment appear of record, it is the duty of the court either to grant a new trial or to pronounce judgment, annexing the penal consequences prescribed by law. If there be a substantial defect apparent on the record; no penal consequences attaches and judgment must be arrested. The arrest of judgment is a final adjudication, and if not reversed on appeal is a full discharge from that bill. Where the arrest of judgment in the court below is left untouched, the appeal having been dismissed, the Judge has not the power on a motion for judgment to pronounce any judgment on the verdict.

$500 Reward—Catarrh Cure.

Some people would rather be humbugged than to get "value received" for their money. Hence it is that such persons run after this and that pretended cure for catarrh, forgetting that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is so positive in its effects, that its former proprietor is advertised it for year througout the United States under a positive guarantee, offering $500 reward for an incurable case and was never called upon to pay this reward except in two cases. This remedy has acquired such a fame that a branch office has been established in London, England, to supply the foreign demand for it. Sold by druggists at 50 cents.

UNABLE TO BREATHE THROUGH NOSE.

PORTLANDVILLE, Iowa, March 11, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

DEAR SIR—Some time ago I bought a Douche, some of your Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Golden Medical Discovery and commenced to use them. The aches and pains as well as sore throat and catarrh from which I have been for so long a time a sufferer, have entirely left me with their use. I feel like a new man as well as look like one. For our years I was unable to breathe through my nose. From the use of the Catarrh Remedy I can now do so freely. Your medicines I know to be all that they are represented. Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, billiousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trial, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Ad.

The very large sale of Eureka Sewing Silks is accounted for, from the fact that those who use them once will use no other. The Eureka is sold by W. H. & R. S. Tucker.
